BLACK LIME CAFE & DELI

Black Lime was born from a dream, a passion, a sense of determination, and a love of coffee. After style changes, fostering it to other names and then changing it back, Black Lime remains Black Lime... it's an individual, it possess a certain status, it's got its own style, pizzazz, and character, it's got soul... it's a living thing, forever evolving!

At Black Lime we offer an extensive range of meals from our all-day breakfast menu, fresh salads and gourmet turkish rolls, to our overflowing display of sweets and cakes. At six each morning the smell of Espresso Di Manfredi coffee brings the early regulars to Black Lime, and from then until late afternoon happy hour, the pace never stops. Meals are prepared, coffee made and a chat enjoyed over a meeting or social occasion.

We select and choose to sell real, traditional and quality foods. Like fashion, food trends come and go, however, classic ingredients and products sit firm. My mum Kaye says, "We are not trendy, but we are a tradition"

We will soon offer a great selection of delectable Cheese, Prosciutto and small-goods from around the world. Our crew are always on hand to offer specialist advice on how to eat, store and utilize our products. We are carefully selecting our products – where possible we will try not to sell what our competitors (especially other local businesses) sell.

Our crew love making great coffee and we love to drink great coffee. Whether it's an early morning start or a break in the middle of the day, join us at Black Lime, soak up the atmosphere and enjoy a cup of Espresso Di Manfredi.

My name is Scott McAlpine, and my parents and I own Black Lime Café.

THE SANDGATE WATER REGATTA

Every month between October and May, colour and life explodes on the Sandgate waterfront during the Sandgate Water Regatta. The event is held on the first Sunday of each month and is open to people of all levels of experience and interest. Stand up paddle boarding (SUP) activities start at 7am, followed by windsurfing from 11am, with those divisions held free to all. The main race for kitesurfers starts around 1pm and forms part of the Queensland Kiteboarding Racing Series. The cost to participate in this event is $40. A trophy will be awarded on-site at the last event of the series.

Surf Connect's Chief Instructor & Director, Padi, enthusiastically describes the event as, "beautiful colourful kites flying all along Sandgate foreshore. It is a must see event!"

With the next regatta on Sunday 3rd November, Padi encourages "Anyone who kitesurfs" to participate.

Padi also reminds us that "Kitesurf racing is now in the Olympics, and we run two major classes here; raceboards and twintips." Everyone is welcome to participate."

Fresh 'FUSH' in Sandgate

Have you heard a New Zealander say fish? Better yet, have you met Peter Brown, manager of the soon to be opened fresh fish shop 'Fush'?

As a teenager, Pete worked part time filleting fish in a job he "never thought would go anywhere". Placing 5th in a national fish filleting competition three years later was a turning point in Pete's life. He and five friends were enticed to immigrate and work in Melbourne. "That was how I came here, back in the 80's. When the boom was on (I) made a lot of money, travelled around Australia ...and ended up here."

Pete's vocation in seafood since then has seen him line fishing, working on prawn trawlers and on big factory boats far out to sea. He has also spent time serving in shop fronts and says "Customer service is everything. I've got to be confident enough to say hey my product's good. They're going to recommend it to their friends and they're going to come back."

Owner Shirley Brown speaks with enthusiasm about bringing fresh fish back to Sandgate.

"We want to be part of the growth of Sandgate offering a quality product and service. Since I met Pete in 2001, his identity and passion has been all things seafood. I believe (in) Pete's ... desire to share that with the local community".

Fush will sell fresh uncooked seafood with a commitment to satisfying their customers and a desire for product to be organic and environmentally sustainable. This is where Sandgate trawler fisherman Scott Edwards comes in. His reputation for top quality prawns has landed him an important role in supplying and sourcing fresh seafood for Fush.

Customers can watch Pete open oysters, learn to prepare Moreton Bay bugs for a meal, or view salmon filleting demonstrations.

Fush will bring it to us from early December at 69 Brighton Road Sandgate, next door to Australia Post.

CRIME REDUCTION IN OUR DISTRICT

Local resident Senior Constable Chris Akacich has recently been appointed as Sandgate Crime Reduction Officer, having served with the Queensland Police Service (QPS) locally since 2003. Crime Reduction is a new station-based initiative which will work in partnership with the local Crime Prevention Officer.

Crime reduction operations target specific areas where crime is occurring in our community and will contribute significantly to local policing efforts. Senior Constable Akacich explains that the majority of local criminal charges are made against opportunists who visit the area either by road or rail. The good news is that crime has not significantly increased in our local community due in part to the vigilance of our tight-knit community.

Senior Constable Chris Akacich

You can also assist in reducing crime in our local area. Ensure that your safety is your first priority and report criminal activity without addressing the issue personally. Remember to supply as much information to police, as soon as possible after the event.

To report suspicious behaviour contact the Sandgate Police Station on 3631 7000. Alternatively you can contact Policelink on 131 444. Remember to use the Triple Zero (000) call line for life-endangering emergencies only.

Calls to Policelink in relation to lost property, wilful damage, graffiti and hooning will free police officers time at the station to take your call. The Policelink app is available on iPhone, iPad, Android and Blackberry.

MUM'S CHICKEN INDIENNE – it's delicious!

Ingredients

2kg chicken thigh pieces with skin on.
Half cup white wine
8 peppercorns
1-2 teaspoons sea salt
Good pinch of dried tarragon
Bouquet garni

1 carrot
2 halved onions
100g toasted cashews

Sauce

3 tablespoons oil
2 finely chopped onions
2 cloves crushed garlic
1 tablespoon

curry powder
2-3 teaspoons
tomato paste
1 lemon sliced.
600ml mayonnaise
200ml cream
3 tablespoons fruit chutney
Salt & pepper to taste

Method

Place the chicken pieces into a pot, cover with water and add wine, bouquet garni, scraped carrot, onions, 1- 2 teaspoons of sea salt, peppercorns and tarragon. Cover and slowly bring to the boil, simmer gently for 20-25 minutes or until tender. During cooking taste the stock and add salt if necessary. Remove from heat once cooked and allow chicken to cool in the stock. When cold remove skin and bones and cut the chicken into large pieces and place in a large bowl. Add the "Sauce Indienne" then cover and chill for 2 hours or overnight. Garnish with the cashews. Serve with Salad. Great for BBQs, Summer Brunch or dinner parties. YUM!!!

Sauce Indienne.. Prepare whilst chicken is cooking and cooling. Heat oil, add onion and garlic and cook gently for a few minutes. Blend in the tomato paste, add lemon slices and the curry powder. Cook gently for another 1-2 minutes. Allow to cool, remove the lemon. When cold add the fruit chutney, mayonnaise and cream. Mix Well!!

Property Market Heating Up

The warmer weather appears to have buyers out in droves as weekend open homes show a marked increased in numbers.

Historically, the months of October/ November are the most popular for selling, and this year is no different. With fewer homes on the market and plenty of buyers out there, now is a great opportunity to sell!

Private treaty is still the most popular way to sell a home in our area, with the majority of sellers listing with a price. The feedback we receive from buyers indicates that they want to know how much a property is listed for when looking at a home. Understandably, they don't want to get disappointed by getting their hopes up and then not being able to afford the home of their dreams.

On the flip side, sellers don't want to sell their home for lower than their expected list price. Regardless of this, another factor to consider is the bank valuation. The seller may get his price, the buyer may be willing to pay it, the bank then values the property and if it does not come up to expectations, the contract may fall over. It's a juggling act.

Our latest quarterly market report is hot off the press and shows the latest sales, properties on the market, average days on the market and medium sale price from December 2012 to now. Call our office on 3269 1555 to obtain your copy.

Gai, Brendan or Dianne are available to give advice on selling and/or the property market. Call 3269 1555 if you would like to chat about your property. We look forward to meeting you.

Festival of Small Halls in Sandgate

The inaugural Festival of Small Halls, presented by the Woodford Folk Festival (WFF) in partnership with the Mullumbimby Music Festival, features some of the best folk and contemporary acoustic artists. WFF's Creative Partnership Director, Chloe Goodyear, is coordinating musicians to go on the road to perform in halls in communities all over Australia, including Sandgate.

The Sandgate Town Hall was chosen in collaboration with the Brisbane City Council as "a beautiful venue sitting amongst the enthusiastic and music-loving community of Sandgate". Festival representatives explain that "Once we've visited a town, we intend to keep coming back, bringing new artists each time ..."

Sandgate's Festival of Small Halls features award-winning Canadian artist Rose Cousins, described by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation as "exquisitely gifted". Her songs have appeared in climatic scenes in television shows such as Greys Anatomy; utilising the devastating emotions her music evokes. Bearded Aussie troubadour Jordie Lane's music reveals love songs that include epic tales based on historical figures, and the guitar work takes you from early Dylan to southern blues.

Joining them are seasoned Music By The Sea performers Cole and Van Dijk of Brisbane. "We are stoked to announce that we're part of the first Australian Festival of Small Halls! ...Can't wait to get on the road with Rose Cousins and Jordie Lane."

Music can reach out to people, rekindle our spirits, remind us of what we share and generate feelings of hope and goodwill. The intent is that there will be more tour dates for

Jordie Lane and Rose Cousins

Sandgate into the future. The Festival of Small Halls, Friday 29th November from 6:30pm. Admission (14 and over) $25 plus online booking fee, children under 13 are free.

Art Installations on Brighton Waterfront

Rick Thomson-Jones is best known for his beachfront sculptures opposite 11th Avenue in Brighton; inspired most often by Queensland public holidays. Many of us would pass Rick in the street without recognition, yet his Art touches the lives of many.

A prolific photographer, poet and lover of art, Rick was raised in the house across the road from where his artworks now appear. As a man returning to Sandgate to care for his ailing father, Rick's artistic flair began to evolve first in the front garden, then across Flinders Parade.

Rick's beachfront Art ranges from tributes to the ANZAC's, a bicycle installation, and to a recent Mother's Day sculpture featuring nappies and undergarments hung from a clothes-line in the bay.

Rick Thomson-Jones

The installations are never planned – “I just do it as I do it ...adding whatever I think of at the time”, and created under the cover of darkness. Slight alterations to his work are intentionally made each day, and visitors to the site are encouraged to add to his work. After a short few days Rick quietly removes and stores the stones, shells, driftwood and even an occasional mannequin until his next project is inspired.

In recent times Rick's inclusion of a note book for people to contribute and leave comments affirmed his intentions. “People open up and say lovely things. It really surprised me that people got such pleasure from something so simple. If it gave somebody a smile it was worthwhile”. It is for that reason that Rick's installations continue to this day.

ANNUAL PENNY FARTHING STACK 2013

Prepare to stack! The Annual Penny Farthing Stack is approaching on Saturday 23rd November from 4pm at the Einbunpin Lagoon, Sandgate.

Free to all, this annual event is hosted by the Queensland Penny Farthing and Historical Cycle Club. With vintage bicycles, and old-fashioned 19th century costumes, it is bound to be quite an enjoyable and family-friendly spectacle.

Of particular note is the annual “maiden voyage” of the bikes that have been built this year during the local Bracken Ridge TAFE course. In this course, unique in Australia, people build their very own bike from scratch using steel, rubber and muscle!

After the penny farthing stack, these classic bicycles will be taken for a gentle, evening parade ride along the waterfront.

Some of the bikes you will see have participated in the Brisbane to Gold Coast 100km ride, and some bikes will compete in next year's National Penny Farthing Championships in Evandale, Tasmania.

The Queensland Penny Farthing and Historical Cycle Club aims to actively promote the creation, restoration, riding and appreciation of all types of vintage and historical bicycles through displays, rides, races and other events.

For more information you can visit the website at www.qpfahcc.com, or email qpfahcc@gmail.com.

PARKRUN'S 1ST B'DAY

Sandgate parkrun is gearing up to celebrate its first birthday on 23rd November, 2013.

The free, 5km, timed run has taken off since starting up last year, now attracting about 250 runners each week.

Event Director Vanessa Gibson says it's so successful because it's inclusive.

"We have super fast runners who finish in 17 minutes; we have 5-year-olds who give it everything; we have parents who run or walk with their pram and we have grandparents who take a leisurely stroll," she says. "It really is for all ages and abilities".

The weekly event happens every Saturday morning at 7am, starting and finishing at Arthur Davis Park, on Flinders Parade, Sandgate.

"Our first birthday will be a great celebration of an event that brings together healthy and active people in our community," says Vanessa.

"We encourage everyone to come along and see what it's all about."

Over the past year, Sandgate parkrun has had more than 1700 runners, and recorded more than 2500 Personal Best times.

Boost for Shorncliffe Train Line

Train passengers on the Shorncliffe train line will benefit from seven new peak services a day as part of a major timetable overhaul.

Member for Nudgee Jason Woodforth and Member for Sandgate Kerry Millard welcomed the new timetable that will significantly boost the number of services in the busy peak period.

So what does this mean for city bound commuters catching the train from Sandgate? All Peak train services will depart every 15 minutes, and every 30mins during off-peak. This should provide for better train/bus connections, and with the new time structure, should make it easier to remember when trains are due to leave a station at any time of day. However, express services have been abolished from the new timetable.

Ms Millard said the additional services would provide more flexibility for people travelling during the peak.

"Many people have spoken to me about the need for better peak services, when they could be waiting close to half an hour to get a train to work" Ms Millard said.

"Under the Newman Government, Shorncliffe line will now be brought up to a standard that means public transport can be a genuinely viable alternative to driving into the city."

Changes will come into effect on the Airport, Beenleigh, Cleveland, Doomben, Ferny Grove, Gold Coast and Shorncliffe lines from 20 January 2014.

Music By The Sea

Aether Instrumental Quintet

A ZEN Buddhist monk once asked celebrated Brisbane harpist Lucy Reeves if she wanted him to take her to heaven.

She laughed at the comment, considering it just one of the interesting experiences that happen when attractive, willowy blonds travel about with very large harps.

The monk, of course was doubling as a weekend taxi driver taking Lucy to an engagement, and had the task of loading the magnificent instrument onto the hoist of his vehicle.

“We are all passionate about the music, about performing together...”

The November 2nd Music By The Sea audience can expect a truly divine performance from Lucy and the other members of Aether Instrumental Quintet when they perform in the intimacy of the Sandgate Town Hall, a building acoustically crafted for such superb events.

Lucy Reeves, Michele Walsh, Patricia Pollett, Louise King, and Patrick Nolan are considered to be some of Australia's finest and well loved musicians who are highly sought after as soloists, educators, chamber music and orchestra players constantly performing around the country.

“We are all passionate about the music, about performing together, and also love creating a connection with our audience,” Lucy said.

Aether performs wonderful music with inspiring and fresh vitality, on harp, flute, and string trio.

Starting at 7.30pm, the contemporary romantic program commences with D'Indy's Suite en Parties, followed by Handel's Harp Concerto MVT 1, Brophy's Sheer Nylon Dances, Dohnyani's Serenade for String Trio, and Jongen's Concert a Cinq.

Tickets are $30 for Adults, $25 for Concession, and Children 5 - 11 years are admitted FREE.

It has been confirmed that the much anticipated 12th annual Music By The Sea Festival will be held on the 10th - 12th January 2014.

The Great War Comes to Sandgate

In 1914, young men were signed up for service with the Australian Army under the pressed-metal ceilings of the Sandgate Town Hall.

Restored in 2011, the hall will once again fill with songs and stories from the First World War, when John Thompson presents his one-man show, The Great War on Sunday, 10th November 2013.

John, fresh from the role of “The Songman” in the National Theatre’s Australian production of, “War Horse”, has assembled some of the best-loved songs of the World War One era, as well as more modern songs that capture the spirit of that time.

“In preparing for “War Horse” the cast were given access to a great library of source material about the war”, said John, from his home at The Gap. “This research sparked my interest and I began searching for and collecting songs from the period, as well as songs from modern song-writers about the experiences of the war”, he said. “The Great War” is the result of this ongoing research.

“I’ve been singing traditional music for over 30 years now”, said Thompson, who accompanies his award-winning singing on acoustic guitar and English concertina. “There is a rich tradition of story-telling in song and the First World War was a time when music brought communities together and allowed experiences to be shared around the world.” The songs from the show will also be accompanied by photographs from the period to illustrate the stories.

The Great War – Sandgate Town Hall, Sunday 10th November 2013 from 7pm - 8.30pm.

Picnic Races Return in 2014

Following on from a hugely successful picnic race day this year, Racing Minister Steve Dickson has announced Deagon will host another community race day in 2014.

Mr Dickson said Racing Queensland had approved a race meeting after overwhelming support from locals saw more than 7,000 people flock to the Deagon track last month for the first race day in 70 years.

"I'm very pleased to announce that Deagon race-goers will have the chance to do it all again next year," Mr Dickson said.

"The Newman Government is committed to rebuilding racing in Queensland, and community race days like this are an important part of that promise.

"Family picnic race days are an opportunity for a wider audience to experience a social day at the track, and they also provide tangible flow-on benefits to local businesses."

Mr Dickson said this year's race meeting had been one of the most successful minor meetings ever staged in Queensland.

"The Sandgate and Districts Chamber of Commerce did a fantastic job in getting local businesses and community groups to back this year's race meeting," he said.

"When tickets went on sale they were sold out within six days, more than six weeks out from race day; and the Chamber of Commerce along with Racing Queensland and the Brisbane Racing Club will again be centrally involved in organising next year's meeting."

Member for Sandgate Kerry Millard said the 2014 race day was set to be held on Sunday 14 September.

"The fact that this year's Deagon Picnic Race Day came to pass is a shining testament to the dedication of locals right here in Deagon and the entire bayside area," Ms Millard said.

"A lot of hard work and community spirit went into its planning, and news that we'll be able to host another meeting next year is just fantastic.

"I have no doubt at all that 2014's meeting will be just as strongly supported, and look forward to working with organisers to ensure an even bigger and better day out."
