SECOND SERIES HOLT BOLT FAST APPROACHING

Ellen Moynihan

Series two of The Holt Bolt, Brisbane's only obstacle course event, is approaching with the first race to be held on 5th July. The race will be held on the St Paul's school cross country course on the Bald Hills flats, ensuring a challenging combination of mud, ropes, water, and open paddocks.

After the success of the first ever Holt Bolt series, Series 2 promises to be equally as popular. Obstacles along the 8 kilometre military-inspired course include climbing frames, commando crawls, mud runs, rope climbs and more.

Coordinator of the race, and event advisor, Ashley Simonic, says it is a fun, family friendly local race, with race options available for every member of the family. "The race can be as tough as you make it," she says. "The course itself is quite challenging, but we layer it so that there are easier and harder options on a lot of the obstacles, and people can go as fast or slow as they wish."

The race is started in waves every seven minutes, with the elite, experienced competitors leaving first and being required to take all the difficult options on the obstacles over several kilometres, and then the rest of the runners following. Teenagers 12-15 years are now allowed to compete with supervision, and a smaller, 400m race for children will also be held.

Ashley says that the race can be equally as enjoyable for elite competitors and first-timers alike. "The course can be used as a stepping stone for bigger races, often elite competitors use it as a training session for bigger races, while beginners can use it as an introduction to obstacle courses. It also allows people to be involved without paying massive fees," she says.

This year's event will draw an even bigger crowd than the first Holt Bolt, with prizes being awarded to competitors in the categories of 'best dressed' and 'team spirit'. Brisbane Bronco Josh McGuire competed in series one and many elite obstacle racers are attending the event. Overall winners for both male and female categories will be awarded a $300 cash prize and participants competing in all three Holt Bolt races of the series will be awarded medals.

The family-run business credits much of its 50 years of success to its community of 35 staff, many of whom have been with Northside Marine for more than 20 years.

“Our current staff have a combined total of 450 years of marine industry experience, and we even have two father-and-son partnerships on deck,” Greg says.

The event is also an opportunity to support kids with cancer, through a partnership with cancer charity Camp Quality.

“We will be selling limited-edition Northside Marine 50th Anniversary Camp Quality fishing shirts, with 100 percent of the proceeds going to this great organisation,” Greg says.

“We hope to raise somewhere between $15,000 and $20,000 for the kids with cancer that are supported by Camp Quality.”

MARINE FESTIVAL IN SHIP SHAPE

Emma Harley

Commemorating 50 years of boating success, Northside Marine is throwing open the doors to its enormous 10,000sqm site on July 18 and 19, with a celebration worthy of half a century of business.

With previous years' crowds topping 2000 people, this year's anniversary festival promises to be bigger and better.

Managing director Greg Nickerson says the free weekend event has all the excitement of a boat show, with something for everyone from boating enthusiasts to curious seafarers.

“Patrons can visit the Yamaha Supertank, a huge mobile aquarium filled with fish the experts show you how to catch, and later even meet six-time V8 Super Car racing champion Jamie Whincup,” Greg says.

“There will also be boating and fishing seminars, a trash and treasure sale with factory seconds, boating accessories, run-out lines, fishing gear, electronics and lots more.

“Families will enjoy great food and drinks, kids' zone and daily prizes to name a few, as well as more specials than you can poke a rod at, and lots of in-store one-off specials.”

ST KIERAN'S FETE

The grounds of St Kieran's Primary School, Brighton are set to come alive on Sunday July 19th with rides, entertainment and stalls as part of their annual school fair. This year's theme, 'Fair Dinkum Fair' will showcase the wonderful country that we live in and St Kieran's looks forward to supporting Buy a Bale, www.buyabale.com.au in helping to support Australia's rural communities.

Students of St Kieran's have been working hard on their dance moves this term and are looking forward to performing on the day. Principal Marissa Clark is excited to share the talents of the students with the community. "Our fete has always reflected the dynamic, welcoming spirit of our community and this year once again promises to be a fun family-friendly event. We look forward to bringing our community together and raising funds that enhance the education of our students."

Fair Dinkum Fair convenors, Jess Audibert and Sue Sykes, wish to thank all of the sponsors who make the day possible. "Without the ongoing support of local businesses this event would simply not be possible. Through the generosity of our wonderful local businesses such as Safe & Sure Electricians, Air Con & Solar, Dickies First National, Escape Travel, John Decker Real Estate and Treasury Casino we have some pretty exciting prizes in our Cent auction and Art union, including our 1st prize of a 3kw Solar Power system valued at $4900."

There's something for the whole family this year, including a Trash 'n' Treasure section for those looking to pick up a bargain as well as the always-popular cake stall. The gates to St Kieran's will open at 9am (rides from 10am) for games, stalls, food, and live entertainment, and look out for a visit from Bernie Gabba Vegas (Brisbane Lions Mascot) and Harry the Hawk (Sandgate AFL Hawks mascot).

The school is located at 15 Greenwood Street, Brighton – just follow the bright yellow fair signs!

Find out more about what will be happening on the day by following the Fair Dinkum Fair on Facebook to <https://www.facebook.com/StKieransFete>. ●●

Foreshore for their opportunity to play on a number of temporary digital pianos as part of Queensland Music Festival's 2015 Keys to the City Event.

Over the 17 days of this event, pods of Roland digital pianos will be placed throughout 40 Brisbane locations to be spontaneously played by passers-by; those more serious about their performances can register their interest online via www.keys.qmf.org.au.

Member for Sandgate, Stirling Hinchliffe, said the event would give everyone in the Sandgate area the chance to have fun and have a go at playing the piano.

"Whether you're a professional musician or someone who wants to play for fun for the first time, Keys to the City gives you the chance to express your musicality," Mr Hinchliffe said.

"The Flinders Parade foreshore provides the perfect outdoor venue for everyone to enjoy this unique initiative, free of charge," he added.

As well as giving everyone a go at playing, the event also provides an additional and novel venue for local musical groups to showcase their talent and gain exposure.

"I encourage local acts, aspiring musicians and those with an established presence in the local music scene to register their interest via the website," Mr Hinchliffe said.

Mr Hinchliffe also encouraged local community music groups, such as Sandbag's Unplugged Café, to register.

"The significant foot traffic along Flinders Parade provides a broad and diverse audience who may not normally be exposed to a live performance," he said.

The Queensland Music Festival has been running since 1999, engaging state-wide audiences and inspiring participation in music-making.

If you would like more information on the event, please visit www.keys.qmf.org.au. You can also contact the Queensland Music Festival on 3010 6600 or email info@qmf.org.au for enquiries. ●●

HAVE A BALL THIS WINTER

Emma Harley

The Sunday Night Dance Group is shaking off the winter chills this month with its annual Winter Ball on Sunday, July 26th.

Held at the Sandgate Senior Citizens Centre, the ball is a chance for fellow group dancers and interested groovers to don their winter finest and dance the night away.

Commencing at 5.30pm, the ball will showcase old time and new vogue dances and feature special dance events such as the Monte Carlo, lucky door prizes and a lucky draw, as well as a shared supper.

The event will also feature the musical styling of Mr Cee, a veteran musician from the Darling Downs who has toured Australia and Asia with the Royal Australian Navy Band, among other musical achievements.

Organiser Ellen Camilleri, says the ball will mark the group's first year in the new venue and is a great opportunity to celebrate.

"The event is a real community effort, with the small team pulling together to put on the festive occasion," Ellen says.

"Our musician, Mr Cee, provides the entertainment, John and Carol are the dance teachers, and if there is any special task to be done, we always have a willing group of dancers to help out."

The Winter Ball is open to people of all dance abilities but, if you feel you need a little refresher on the dance floor, Ellen says anyone is welcome to attend the weekly dances to brush up on their moves or learn some new ones.

"Every Sunday night we offer a free dance lesson, so people with even no dance experience can come along and learn a dance to get them up on the floor," Ellen says.

"Our Winter Ball will feature dances from our normal weekly dance program, so there is no need to worry about having to learn new dances especially for the ball."

For more information on the event contact Ellen on 0408 879 089. ●●

EINBUNPIN FESTIVAL

Little Bay of Sunshine

Emma Harley

It's that time of year again, when Sandgate comes alive for the popular annual Einbunpin Festival.

Kicking off July 26, the festival will transform the Einbunpin Lagoon parkland, showcasing an extensive lineup of entertainment, stalls, activities and food sources within the community.

Councillor and committee chairwoman, Victoria Newton says the popularity of the festival is due to the strong involvement and participation of residents and community groups, in everything from planning through to activities on the day.

"People tell me they enjoy coming along to the festival and catching up on what's happening in their local community – it's like a big annual reunion for locals," Victoria says.

With the 2015 theme 'Little Bay of Sunshine', the festival celebrates everything that makes the area special – the seaside village atmosphere, unique environment and strong sense of community.

"More than half of the 175 stall sites feature community organisations based in the Sandgate district, and the remainder are mainly local businesses," Victoria says.

"And, local talented musicians and performers will be featured; over fifty local performers across the four entertainment areas."

Entertainment is a key part of the festival and four precincts have been established, including the Festival Stage near Keogh Street, the Festival Arena in the centre, the Lily Seat near Lagoon and Keogh Streets, and the Bunpin Stage towards the Ibis Centre.

These zones will showcase everything from high school stage bands, dance performances, community choirs, including Jafa, and the Bayside Divas, to smaller folk groups, acoustic performances and emerging artists.

Other highlights of the day include the children's playground, with free activities and family-themed stalls, as well as the popular Bunpin Games in the Festival Arena, with the annual Mullet Tossing and Children's Boat races.

The visual arts community is another key feature of the day, with SAS Arts, Shorncliffe Potters and Artrageous Arts involved with stalls, as well as the annual Magic Canvas Competition and the Bridge Gallery.

"The Einbunpin Festival has something for everyone, and I know I'm not the only one looking forward to Festival Day," Victoria says.

For further information and to download the full program closer to the day, visit the Einbunpin Festival website at www.einbunpinfestival.org.au. ●●

MUSIC BY THE SEA

Joseph and James Tawadros

To the delight of fans, virtuosos Joseph and James Tawadros return to Music By The Sea, presenting a carefully chosen, thrillingly delivered fusion of Western and Middle-Eastern music on Saturday 1st August, at Sandgate Town Hall.

This coalescence of original and exciting cross-styles covers a broad spectrum, where the Tawadros brothers are equally at ease performing jazz, classical, Indian and Egyptian music.

A Coptic Egyptian, Joseph is a master of the fret-less Oud or Arabic lute, on which modal improvisations known as Taqasims – the main objective of which is to reach the point of Tarab – are traditionally performed to elicit an exciting and ecstatic state that both musician and the audience reach in the embellishment of the music.

Also known as a musical game-changer who blurs boundaries, he writes for film, theatre and TV, holds a Bachelor of Music with honours from UNSW, has been named one of Sydney's "100 Most Influential People", is a migrant success story, and has a larrikin sense of humour.

Further success within the industry has spawned nine consecutive nominations for the coveted ARIA Award, with Concerto of the Greater Sea taking the gong for Best World Music Album in 2012.

Also making a name for himself as a world-class percussionist and soloist, younger brother James plays the Req - a small hand held tambourine with a skin covering and five pairs of cymbals.

Career highlights as a soloist have taken him on orchestral tours with the Australian Chamber Orchestra, and Camerata Salzburg, the highly acclaimed Austrian chamber orchestra.

*The Attic Greeks gave us the word "synergia".
The Tawadros Brothers embody it. Two forces immersed in a field of resonance, seemingly reading each other's minds, never missing a beat, producing the transforming force*

- Tarab

"Head thrown back and eyes closed in rapture, Tawadros' accelerandos seemed faster than humanly possible."

- The West Australian

"When there are great artists such as Joseph Tawadros served, exceeding the sharp dividing line between East and West, he creates an incredibly intense sound with a structure which abolishes the distance between jazz and oriental music."

- Westzeit, Germany

PROPERTY MARKET REVIEW

State of Play

Experts are finally indicating that our area is the location to buy in! With interest rates lower than expected, it's a great time to buy, and it's such an affordable location. However, if buyers can't find a home to buy within a reasonable time, they will look elsewhere. While our 4017 area has seen a trickle of homes come onto the market in the last month (169), pretty much the same as last month (170) (sourced www.realestate.com.au), there are indications that some suburbs are improving more than others - it's still a slow, if not flat, market.

Stamp duty is payable on residential property purchases and Queensland is still cheaper than other states. However, for most people, stamp duty is that "unknown cost" associated with purchasing a home. Stamp duty is payable 30 days from contract date or at settlement, whichever occurs first. This tax varies according to the actual purchase of the home, and differs according to whether the property will be owner-occupied, a first home or an investment. If you are purchasing, ask the right questions of your lending body and ensure they make allowances for the tax when discussing your borrowing capacity.

You all know that we recently purchased and are now renovating our cottage, which appears to date back to the late 1800s. As part of the process we have researched the history of the home. This will be an ongoing task but we have already discovered some interesting facts. Did you know that the "Avenues" were not always called their current names? Originally, these streets were named after locals—First Avenue was Petty, Second was Wilson, Third was Cooksley, Fifth was Henry and Sixth was Tulley. There doesn't appear to be any record of Fourth Avenue. These names were changed in 1913.

With the character and heritage of our homes, buildings, and of course people, history is such a big part of our community. Even in days gone by the popularity of our area was evident, with some prominent people choosing to reside in our resort location. Even today, well-known people can walk down our streets and be recognised without being recognised, if you know what I mean!

That's what draws people to us. We don't follow other trends, we create our own! ●●

Rock and Rollers! Happy couples are learning Rock 'n' Roll dancing at Sandgate RSL on Monday nights. I went along to take pics of some of the fun.

Chefs Jaycee, Kevin and Elise told me they would like to be out there on the dance floor too. You'll find them in the kitchen getting your meal ready. Say 'gidday' to them when you order your meal.

Rock 'n' Roll dance instructor, Stuart Mauchline, tells me "Rock 'n' Roll dancing is great fun and anyone can learn. You can come as a couple or as a single and we'll pair you up."

Wayne and Lesley Hagger love coming to the RSL in Sandgate. "We come here with friends because it's fun and friendly and we love to dance!"

SANDGATE RSL

Emma Harley

Standing strong as a local icon, the beloved Sandgate RSL Club continues to offer a memorable food experience, with customers enjoying a bistro setting in a casual and friendly environment.

Situated close to Sandgate's central hub on Keogh Street, The Sandgate RSL offers two casual dining destinations, Constellations Restaurant and Café Orion.

Head chef Kevin Yu oversees what has been a steadfast dining choice for patrons throughout the Bramble Bay area, including freshly prepared A la carte meals, constantly changing daily chef's specials and seasonal chef's selections.

A range of entertainment is on hand including country, old time, rock and retro music, pokies, Keno terminals, bingo and a wide range of promotions running every day.

The history of the club dates back almost 70 years, with The Sandgate RSL first receiving their charter for membership of the Returned Sailors, Soldiers and Airman's League of Australia in 1945.

General manager James Fitzgerald says the purpose in developing the club was to establish a venue where not only ex-service men and women could meet, but also members of the general public could join in and enjoy the hospitality and benefits of club membership.

"The club continues to be the largest organisation of its kind in the district and supports many worthwhile charitable groups with financial assistance, as well as the use of the club's facilities and bus," James says.

"The club is a community icon, and the staff and patrons interact as one big happy family.

"It offers good old-fashioned customer service, affordable lunch specials, free entertainment, tribute shows and barefoot bowls days, all in a non-judgmental environment."

With the club currently going through voluntary provisional liquidation, James says the loyal staff and committee are working hard to support the club, but there are many ways the community can assist also.

"People can help the RSL by becoming a member for $5 in 2015, participating in our free events such as Trivia on a Thursday evening, coming down for dinner or lunch and booking functions with us," he says.

A WORD FROM OUR REPRESENTATIVES

Cr Victoria Newton

With the start of the new financial year, I'm pleased to advise of Council projects planned for the next twelve months.

Funding of $6.5million has been allocated to complete the final stages of Shorncliffe Pier rebuild to be completed by early 2016.

A new 40km/h school zone will be installed outside Sandgate State School in Rainbow Street, and the North Road crossing at Brighton State School will be improved.

To continue works to widen Brighton's foreshore pathways, $616,000 is allocated to undertake two more stages.

Also, further pedestrian and cyclist improvements are planned, with $248,000 for new upgrades to build on works recently undertaken around Deagon and Sandgate over the past twelve months.

I'm also looking forward to working with locals to upgrade some of our local parks, including Moora Park at Shorncliffe, the Sandgate foreshore, Decker Park Brighton, Jill Street Park Brighton, Pomona Street Brighton and Third Lagoon Reserve Brighton.

Funding is also available to partner with the leasee upgrade of the Sandgate Pool, which can hopefully occur once the legal matters have been resolved.

Stirling Hinchliffe MP

NAIDOC week runs from 5th to 12th July, celebrating the history, culture and achievements of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples. This year's theme is 'We all Stand on Sacred Ground: Learn, Respect and Celebrate', with Adelaide as the host city. The focus is on Indigenous peoples' strong spiritual and cultural connection to the land. I believe in the importance of ensuring this connection is understood and respected by the whole of Australian society through awareness and education.

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people have the oldest continuing culture on Earth, with a sacred connection to the land. However, it wasn't until the landmark land rights case in 1992, spearheaded by Eddie Mabo, that this connection was recognised. In June 1992, the High Court of Australia rejected the doctrine that Australia was terra nullius (land belonging to no-one) at the time of European settlement. The traditional owners had rights that existed before the British arrived. This decision was a turning point for Indigenous land rights and in Australian history, reminding us that our cities, towns and suburbs are built on sacred land.

The traditional owners of the land north of the Brisbane River are the Turrbal People. Locally, events are held to celebrate, as well as reflect on, NAIDOC week. Please visit www.naidoc.org.au to see the week's events.

Cr Amanda Cooper

I would like to urge residents to help keep our suburbs tidy as litter can end up in storm water drains, and ultimately block storm water pipes. There are free reusable litter bags and copies of the 'Little Book of Litter', which you are welcome to come and collect from my ward office. There are a number of ways we can all help to reduce litter, such as using bins properly, stubbing out cigarettes and putting them in the bin, encouraging our children not to litter and taking a litter bag on car trips.

Council has recently been carrying out remediation work in Barrett Street Reserve. We are now waiting for the turf to establish itself and to develop its root system. The large mango tree and mulched section around the tree will then be excluded from the off leash area, and the grooming table will be moved out to under another tree within the off leash area.

COUNCILLOR TO LEAVE ON A HIGH

Emma Harley

From taking charge of the microphone at the Bluewater Festival to chatting to fellow shoppers at Ibis Central, it's fair to say Councillor Victoria Newton has Sandgate running through her veins.

With decades of service for the Australian Labor Party, 15 of them as councillor for the Deagon Ward, Victoria Newton has decided to call it a day at the next election.

Following the successful 1991 Jim Soorley campaign, Victoria has worked in electorate offices for federal MP Wayne Swan and former Deagon Ward councillor Denise Herbert, before being elected as Councillor for Deagon Ward in March 2000.

Wrapping up her fourth term early next year, Victoria is ready for her next adventure.

"I always felt if I had the privilege of choosing my own time to wrap up as local councillor, I'd know when it was time," Victoria says.

"Speaking to family and close friends, I felt it was time to finish up. While there's always more to do, I have enjoyed the honour of working with the local community these past 15-plus years."

Victoria says the decision to finish up was not an easy one.

"It comes with a mix of sadness and joy as I have enjoyed, and still enjoy, the role and the challenges the role of councillor presents," Victoria says.

There have been many highlights for Victoria during her time as councillor, with her fondest being the opportunity to get to know the area's people.

"To be an effective elected representative you have to develop good relationships with your residents," Victoria says.

"Whether it's the unique remote communities in the townships on Moreton Island, the culturally diverse suburbs of Boondall, Taigum and Zillmere, or the northern bayside areas of Deagon, Brighton, Sandgate and Shorncliffe, it's been such an honour to get to meet and know so many amazing people.

So what's next on the cards for the veteran councillor?

"I would like to take a brief break before I start looking for another job," Victoria says.

"I've really enjoyed working with and on behalf of our community, so I'm keen to find a future role with the community sector in some way.

"I'm looking forward to having a bit more 'me' time as this role is 24/7 - maybe I can enjoy a weekend off and spend some more time with family and friends - maybe even work on my guitar skills!"

Victoria has no intention, however, of leaving the area she loves so much.

"My husband and I love Sandgate and we plan to stay here, that's for sure," Victoria says.

"You'll probably find me at a gig at local venues, grabbing a bite to eat at a local cafe, enjoying a walk or bike ride around our fabulous area, and most likely at the local supermarket where I think we all run into each other and catch up." ●● but one thing has remained constant, and that is their diligent work ethos.

Roy, who was born in a private hospital in Sandgate, had an industrious and varied career. He served in the army in New Guinea, worked in the Railway as a 'Safety Officer', was a Waterside worker, drove a delivery truck, and even ran a 'Milk and Ice Run' in Sandgate. He bought land in Brighton, built a home and has lived there since 1968. According to Roy, "It doesn't get better than Brighton, close to everything, especially the seaside and the sea breeze." Life for Roy now is about enjoyment, which sees him as a regular at local Karaoke venues, cruising in his Valiant and watching Rugby League.

Perhaps resilience and zest for life are in his genes.

It was Roy's grandparents, Paul and Julia Pepler, who boarded the "Friedberg" ship in Germany in 1878 bound for Australia via Rio de Janeiro. It was a bold and brave move to immigrate to the other side of the world. Roy remembers his grandfather as "a tough man" and one would have had to be to embark on that journey. Settling in Shorncliffe to have eight children, the Peplers had an interesting life.

Paul was a hardworking man who had several business interests. He was an undertaker for the district and for more than forty years was a gravedigger for the Bald Hills Cemetery. Roy remembers riding with his grandfather to the cemetery by horse and buggy, where his grandfather would work tirelessly digging the graves. This very cemetery contains many of the Pepler family, including Paul, although ironically it does not state Paul Pepler's own name on the headstone. Paul was the caretaker of the first Town Hall for 20 years, as well as the first gas lamplighter in Sandgate. Paul also established a horse-drawn taxi business, which was known as hansom cabs. His many horses would graze in the large paddocks around the family home in Shorncliffe.

The lives and times of Sandgate's early settlers are fascinating. For more information contact the Sandgate Historical Society. ●●

FROM HORSE-DRAWN CARRIAGE TO FORD VALIANT

Susie Laery

Susie Laery reflects on the life of the Pepler family of Shorncliffe and reveals a slice of Sandgate's rich history.

At 92, Brighton resident Roy Edington enjoys cruising the streets of Sandgate in his 40 year old 'Coral Blue' Valiant. For Roy's grandfather Paul Pepler, a Valiant would have been unknown; transport around Sandgate for him was by horse-drawn carriage. In three generations of the Pepler family, the life and times of Sandgate has changed dramatically Little Nest Creations' shop owner, Gemma with Little Collective of 4017 member, Sandra.

BUILDING A NEST OF LOCAL CRAFTERS

Ellen Moynihan

Perched near Brighton's foreshore, Little Nest Creations gift shop will be offering craft classes, giving students a chance to meet local 4017 makers, and create some treasures of their own.

Shop owner, Gemma Child, started a Little Collective of 4017 crafters to display their work in the shop, and it is their creations that the upcoming classes will be centred around.

"We now have 13 local makers in our Collective," says Gemma. "The items they make are a mixture of unique gift ideas. We don't just do it because we love it, we also do it to be sustainable, create local jobs and support our community's economy."

Gemma has invited Collective member Sandra, to teach at the upcoming craft class in July. Sandra lives locally in Brighton and creates pieces using a mixture of textiles. A specialty of hers is rope coil baskets, which will be available to make in upcoming classes.

"The classes can help people tap into the skills they are learning and continue evolving their creativity, as well as reviving lost skills to use in a modern way" Sandra says.

"We want people to know that they don't have to be a professional artist, they just need to have a desire to be creative. Best of all, you might just meet a new friend in the process."

The classes will be held in collaboration with the new Cafe Valletta, and the cafe owner, James, will be offering free champagne on arrival. Coffee and cake will also be available for purchase. The next class will held on July 18th, at 7pm. Participants will be working on a mini canvas design project completed over two hours.

The cost per class is $35 per person, with group booking discounts. To book a spot visit in store or contact Gemma Child on 0421 026 599.

The upcoming class is available for anyone to sign up for, and will have a focus on mini canvas design. The class will be held on Saturday, 18th July from 7pm to 9pm at Cafe Valletta, Brighton Village Shopping Centre, 515/353 Beaconsfield Terrace, Brighton.

BARRY'S GARDENING TIPS

Barry Batchelor, Your Local Gardening Expert

Garden Gate

For all the keen gardeners out there, here are a few more tips and pointers from The Garden Gate. Don't forget we're open for coffee, advice or a chat six days a week, so feel free to drop in and visit us at the back of the Sandgate Community Centre on Rainbow Street.

Get trendy!

House plants are making a comeback. Dark, leafy green plants create healthy air in your home, and are very much 'on-trend' in the interior decorating world. The Garden Gate has a range of options available, including the good old fashioned (and hard to kill) cacti; come down and have a look at the variety of these fascinating plants in stock now

Try this healthy food

Kale's a great, healthy edible garden product if you haven't tried growing it before.

This wonderful, hardy vegetable has a long season too. In Brisbane you can plant as late as July. Cut the tender centre leaves when young, and then come back for some more a week or two later. It tastes great steamed, or chopped into your salad mix.

Thought of chooks?

Years ago chickens were a common resident in suburban gardens, and people today are rediscovering the advantages of keeping chickens. Not only will your chooks magically turn your kitchen scraps into organic free-range eggs, but they'll also supply you with chicken manure, and so reduce composting needs. They're also very persistent at catching insects, particularly the fruit fly and codling moth, protecting your plants. Chooks love their greens, so try growing plants to keep them well-fed. This will reduce your feed bill, and ensure your birds have a healthy, varied diet. You can create forage areas by rotating different runs with varied crops of greens, limiting access to some areas while green forage crops are growing. A chook tractor or portable coop can also work well if you have a smaller space, with one or two garden beds set aside for poultry food plants.

Build your soil health

Winter is a good time to consider the health of the soil. Heavy rains have probably compacted your soil and washed the nutrients away. You need to create the space essential to healthy soil, allowing room for plant roots, earthworms, beneficial soil organisms and water. Consider adding Biochar, whose porous structure enables your soil to retain moisture and nutrients and encourages microbiological life. Powdered fertilisers offer a blend of enriching nutrients too. Both of these are available at the Garden Gate.

AN OFFERING FROM SANDGATE: A HILLS HOIST FIT FOR A QUEEN

Clinton Rivers

Local artist Rick Thomson-Jones hung out an offering for the Queen of England; an iconic Hills Hoist for her Birthday at Sandgate Beach, with a view of the ocean.

Asked to comment about the feature on the beach Rick said, "I thought the Queen may like the Hills Hoist for the top deck of the Britannia (albeit as a museum piece) or the front yard of the palace. She's welcome to come or send one of the grandkids to collect it. But I will need the clothes back please."

The local Sandgate artist often creates temporary art along the foreshore for people to enjoy.

This 'Hills Hoist' piece was on display during the Queen's Birthday long weekend on the tidal flats between 9th and 10th Avenue, Sandgate. ●●
